NEED COLLIERS,

SAYS COWLES, TO

ACCOMPANY FLEET

Washington, Nov. 28.—Rear Admiral Cowles in his annual report strongly urges more colliers for the navy. Present colliers are utterly insufficient. He cites the recent voyage of the Atlantic fleet when it was necessary to employ foreign vessels as colliers. He declares that if foreign complications had arisen or foreign owners had formed a combination the fleet could not have made the trip. The same situation is likely to occur in war times.

Hickman County Prisoners Break Jail by Overpowering and Beating Up Jailer Noonan With Own Gun

Six Desperate Criminals Attack Him as He Carries in Food to Them—Three Cross River—None Escape.

Hickman, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special.)—Six prisoners, three white and three colored, charged with burglary, forgery and other crimes, escaped from jail here Thursday night by overpowering Jailer Noonan when he went to take in supper. They took his pistol and beat him. Three took to the hills and three crossed the river and are not yet captured.

Uncle Joe Noonan, the jail keeper, went into the jail at 4 o'clock with supper for the prisoners. Just after he got in and had locked the door he was seized from behind by the prisoners. He managed to get his pistol from his hip pocket, and thought he had it against the prisoner, but when he fired the bullet went into the wall. He was hurled to the ground and struck on his head with his own pistol, and also received a bad cut in the left hand. The prisoner who had the pistol got the keys, and he and five others got away. Three went toward the hills and three made for the river. The three latter found a skiff right in front of the town and got away to the Missouri shore. Quick pursuit was made after all of them, but every one managed to get away. "Uncle Joe" was rather badly jarred, receiving a long cut in the head and a cut in the hand, but he managed to crawl out of the jail and give the alarm. Two prisoners did not attempt to escape.

Shenandoah, Pa., Nov. 28.—A remarkable tribute to a priest was paid at the funeral of the Rev. H. F. O'Reilly, rector of the Roman Catholic Church of the Annunciation here for forty years. Twenty-five colliers, employing more than 16,000 men and boys, in the Shenandoah and Mahoney valleys, were shut down to enable the workers to pay their respects to the dead priest. Maurice Boverel, a wealthy farmer, told Magistrate Andre, who is investigating the Steinheil case, that he was the lover of Madame Steinheil, who quarreled with her after her husband's death. Andre is making a thorough inquiry in the hope of unraveling the mystery of Faur's death. It is believed Madame Steinheil is insane and guards are watching her constantly.

THOUSANDS BUY TAGS FROM YOUNG WOMEN ON STREET

Business Houses and Public Offices Are Invaded by Eager Taggers.

Enjoyable Incidents During Earnest Hunt for Dimes.

PREPARING FOR EUCHE NEXT

"Tag Day" dawned clear, but about 11 o'clock a drizzling rain began falling, but the work of pinning the tags on everyone did not cease. The young women were at their posts of duty early this morning and despite the rain were busy all day. When the count is made it is certain that a large sum will be realized for the benefit of the charity wards of Riversdale hospital.

Haunts of the officials, both city and county, were invaded by the hospital cause. Many amusing incidents have happened during the day. This morning Misses Ethel Brooks and Belle Cave began with the officials, and the first visit was the sheriff's office. As usual business was good, and Deputy Sheriffs Rogers, Fortson, Clarence and Hume Ogilvie were tagged, but the sheriff was not to be found. All of the country people were tagged and they were not half as contrary as some of the city people. Even the farmers had read or heard of "Tag Day" and the tags were carried into the country. Not to tag the sheriff caused disappointment to the young women, but suppressed laughter among the deputies caused a final search and Sheriff Ogilvie was found hidden under the counter. He crawled out and was tagged.

The next visit was the city hall, and Mayor Smith and City Solicitor Campbell were met on the steps and were tagged. Mayor Smith escaped the young women until after 10 o'clock this morning, because His Honor was busy in his office. He contributed a dollar, but 90 cents in change was refunded. Several of the citizens have offered over 10 cents for a tag, but in every instance the change has been given, or a tag given for every dime.

The city hall was invaded and police and every official contributed to the cause. Police Judge D. A. Cross was caught just as court was dismissed and tagged. The judge was "broke," and accepted the tag on credit, while several attorneys were not quite so unfortunate.

Misses Cave and Brooks went to the office of Judge E. W. Bagby, who was holding his court in bankruptcy, but he promptly dismissed the court while the young women tagged every lawyer and witness as well as the judge himself. After the tagging had been completed the wheels of the court began operation again.

Postmaster Fisher was tagged twice this morning and not one of the employees of the postoffice escaped being tagged. This afternoon the court house were rewarded with a visit.

Many of the young women did not cease work at noon, but after lunch down in the city caught and tagged the business people while going to and from work. The wholesale district was invaded by the energetic workers this morning and business firms that the girls did not know were in existence were visited.

Six thousand tags were printed, and at least 4,000 were disposed of.

It was in the mayor's office that many of the city officials were recorded with the red cross. Miss Elizabeth Kirkland, daughter of City Auditor Kirkland, was at the city hall early this morning and after making the rounds of the officials on the second floor went to the mayor's office. Miss Nunemacher, the secretary, was tagged, and Auditor Kirkland and President Rudy, of the board of public works. Fire Chief Wood was in the office and at the first warning jumped behind the door, but he was late, and he was tagged. City Solicitor Campbell walked in and received his tag, while Chief Wood went out and told Chief Collins to hurry to the mayor's office. He did and was tagged in a hurry. Police Captain Harlan, Street Inspector Bell and Patrolmen Carter and Rice walked in in time to be presented with the tags. Bystanders were no exception, and tags went so rapidly that Miss Kirkland was soon out of the red crosses.

The ladies are so gratified with the success of their first feature they have already turned their attention to the next—the eucure party. The party will be Monday night, December 7. Fifty-four prizes have been secured. The party will be given in the Elks' building, the lodge having kindly donated the club rooms for the occasion. Admission will be 50 cents.

At noon it was estimated that $200

A feature of today's meeting was an address by Mrs. C. E. Purcell, of Paducah, organizer for the school improvement department of the Woman's club. Last night Dr. Byron W. King delivered an address to the association, which was highly entertaining and instructive.

Before adjourning the association elected officers as follows: Prof. W. D. Dadds, superintendent of Graves county schools, president; Professor Mydyck, of Kuttawa, vice president; Professor C. W. In Bankruptcy.

The first meeting of the creditors of the John G. Rohkopf Buggy company was held this morning before E. W. Bagby, referee in bankruptcy. Accounts amounting to several thousand dollars were presented, and the creditors elected Mr. A. E. Boyd trustee of the estate of the bankrupt and his bond was fixed at $2,000. Appraisers for the stock were named: B. M. Philley and Alex. Kolb. The bankrupt was ordered to file a schedule of accounts before the next meeting of creditors, December 2.

In the bankruptcy case of Emmett Brown, a merchant of Slater, Ballard county, the creditors filed claims for several thousand dollars. Mr. Louis Rubel was elected trustee of the estate by the creditors, and his bond fixed at $2,500. No proof was taken this morning and the meeting was adjourned until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Trustee H. V. Sherrill, in the case of Thomas C. Leech, a bankrupt, filed a report that a homestead valued at $1,000 and personal property to the amount of $275 had been set aside and filed a petition for the sale of all the remaining real estate of the bankrupt, which is valued at about $20,000. The property will be sold free from the liens, which amount to about $12,000. Referee Bagby set December 12 for a hearing, and then he will set a date for the sale of the property.

Even dogs did not escape being tagged. This morning two dogs were tagged by young women at the Palmer House station.

Alfred Dozier Says Reduction of Tariff Would Remove Last Barrier to Combine That Would Cut Wages.

New York, Nov. 28.—Alfred Dozier, of Wilmington, whose letter to Roosevelt caused the deposition of Dupont from the Republican speakers' bureau, wrote Chairman Payne, of the Ways and Means committee, a strong letter, attacking Carnegie's suggestion to remove protection on steel and iron. He says the removal of the tariff will put the whole world at the mercy of the trusts. The danger of competition at home now keeps the trusts from making prices too high, or reducing wages too much. If the tariff was removed the international trust would be formed. Laws cannot touch them and they would reduce wages and raise prices exorbitantly. The danger of competition from abroad would prevent the establishment of independent factories. He thinks Carnegie has already arranged the organization of an international steel trust, which will begin operations as soon as the tariff is removed. He warns people to investigate thoroughly before the tariff is revised.

William Brash Electrocuted.

NEW COUNTY CEMETERY BEING PLATTED FOR USE.

A plat of the new county cemetery is being made by Deputy County Clerk James Wilcox, and when completed will be a valuable aid in keeping a record of the graves. The cemetery has been laid off into four blocks, sections being reserved for the burial of white infants and white adults and for colored infants and adults. Each grave will be numbered and a record kept of it by the county physician of every person buried in the cemetery.

BUSINESS GAINS DAILY STRENGTH ALONG BROADWAY

Retail Trade Picks Up as Season Advances and Xmas Prospects Good.

Wholesalers and Jobbers Report Growing Demand.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK

Bank clearings . . . $547,897.

Despite the fact that there were only five business days this week the bank clearings have been up to the average, and in comparison with the six days of last week there is a nice increase in the figures.

Trade was rushing with the poultry dealers this week, as well as the grocers, and practically every line of business felt the stimulus given the trade by Thanksgiving Day. The clothing dealers have had a better week, and quite a few new hats were won on the result of the football games.

Retail trade has been good this week, and yesterday nearly all the stores were well filled with customers. The merchants were glad smiles. The Christmas trade has begun to fill the coffers. The campaign being made this year by the newspapers to encourage early Christmas shopping will have some effect, and now as Thanksgiving is over, the stores will rapidly assume holiday attire.

Wholesale dealers have been busy, too, and last night one wholesale dealer sent off telegrams to the jobbers to rush goods, for his supply is about exhausted. Traveling men, who are now on their second rounds, say that orders are heavier than on the first trip. This is due primarily to the merchant not desiring to be overloaded, but as business is increasing his small stock is dwindling, and he has to make additional purchases. One traveling man said he thought the day of the merchant's place being the warehouse is over, and that he will buy from the jobbers and manufacturers when the goods are needed.

Although the weather has been suitable for the handling of tobacco there has been little activity. Another sale of tobacco in the Green River pool is encouraging to the local men. Mr. C. W. Bohmer will be ready by Wednesday to handle tobacco. At present he is advertising his loose leaf warehouse, and consulting the farmers of McCracken and adjoining counties.

Real estate has been quiet, although nearly all of the dealers are dickering, but sales have been slow to close.

Guard Fires at Marauder.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 28.—What is believed to have been a plot to burn the lumber mill of James Geason, where troops at Fort Roper are securing the lumber used in the erection of their new winter quarters, was frustrated at an early hour this morning by the vigilance of sentries, who have been posted around the mill for several nights past. Three or four shots were fired at a man who attempted to sneak up to a mill with a bundle in his hand by one of the sentries. Whether the trespasser was hit or not by the bullets was not learned, as he escaped in the darkness.
